Boris,
Here are two memo's I had prepared for me on appointing a second slate of electors in Wisconsin. There is no need for the legislators to act. The second slate just shows up at noon on Monday and votes and then transmits the results. It is up to Pence on Jan 6 to open them. 'Our strategy, which we believe is replicable in all 6 contested states, is for the electors to meet and vote so that an interim decision by a Court to certify Trump the winner can be executed on by the Court ordering the Governor to issue whatever is required to name the electors. The key nationally would be for all six states to do it so the election remains in doubt until January. But, if you let the 14th pass without Trump electors meeting and voting and transmitting, no Court can change the outcome. You must have electors meet and vote and transmit on the 14th.

Important: NOTE that Van Jones at CNN agrees with this because he intended to have the Democrats do exactly what we are talking about had they not been certified in PA. (There is a link to the article.) This is not just a Republican fantasy. Van Jones and I believe Larry Tribe at Harvard have both opined and come to the same conclusion.

Of course, before you get out a limb with this I would ask you make sure to have other attorneys or friendly professors review our work here and confirm that what we are planning to do is not without support.

If you take it further, you will want to have a discussion with, or have others review this, with Ken Chesebro on our team.

I hope Rudy is ok. Give him my best.

Jim
